Guide to Washington, DC during Inauguration

--- Jan. 18-21 2017

Event Schedule

- How to book tickets for the Inaugural Swearing Ceremony on January 20, 2017?

Be prepared to be disappointed because are hundreds of thousands of requests but not nearly that many tickets. Requests for inauguration tickets must go through one's member of Congress. You can contact your representative or congressman. Each office handles it differently.

Tickets are free for attendance although a ticket is required. Don't buy any tickets from scammers. Tickets are only given out in person at your congressperson's office a week prior to the inauguration so do not try to buy tickets online.

You can attend the inauguration without tickets, since it is a public event. Tickets are required to watch from the platform but there are viewing stations all along the National Mall with large screen televisions and speakers. Expect a crowd and security.

You can also attend the Inaugural Parade. After the swearing in ceremony and inaugural luncheon, the new President and Vice President will travel down Pennsylvania Avenue between the Capitol and White House. Public entrances are set along the route where guests can watch the parade without tickets. Public entrances open at 630am for the afternoon parade and are closed as the area becomes filled.

The parade route starts at the East Front of the Capitol Building, travels down Constitution Avenue and then down Pennsylvania Avenue, up 17th Street and back on Pennsylvania Avenue.

- How to establish the networking working with other Asian Pacific American communities?

Please feel free to contact your colleagues and friends in the local area. There are many things to do near Chinatown, DC. Check this guide:

https://www.yelp.com/search?find_desc=fun+things+to+do&find_loc=Chinatown%2C+Washington%2C+DC

There is also the Korean Cultural Center on Massachusetts Avenue. It has many cultural events, including musicals, lectures, and films, as well as get-togethers:

<http://www.koreaculturedc.org/En/Index.asp>

The Japanese Information and Cultural Center is also a great resource in downtown:

- What other events can I can participate?

The listing is provided below:

<http://apainaugural.asian.gop/inaugural-events-info.shtml>

- Where to live?

Private home near Metro in Washington DC!

You may rent a single house to share the cost through AirBnB (as a suggestion)!

Check with AIRBnB for listing of locations and places that are reasonable and can be booked during Inauguration. You can also arrange for your friends to be with you as a group. Most of these accommodations are close to the Metrorail system so that it is relatively handy to get into downtown Washington, DC.

Note: Please note that traffic will be very heavy during the Inauguration period. We suggest you find public transportation or provide yourself with ample time to find parking before the events. Using Uber, Lyft, taxis, or using public transportation will be helpful during this impacted traffic period.

EVENT LISTINGS

The two most important events are highlighted in red:

- Jan 19th which will be held in the Mayflower Hotel, at the 1127 Connecticut Avenue NW Washington DC 20036
- Jan 20th Inaugural Swearing-In Ceremony on the United States Capitol

Please book the tickets as soon as you can!
